4.0 Procedure

4.1 Conformity Assessment Functions and Activities

Halal Center maintains (through publications, electronic media or other means), and makes public, without request, in all the geographical areas in which it operates, information about

- audit processes;
- processes for granting, refusing, maintaining, renewing, suspending, restoring or withdrawing certification or expanding or reducing the scope of certification;
- types of Management Systems and certification schemes in which it operates;
- the use of Halal Certification and certification mark or logo;

The scheme includes the following functions and activities:

Audit Processes:

a. Scope of Halal Certification

Halal Center conducts Halal certification activities as covered by the applicable relevant standards. Specifically, slaughterhouses, food manufacturing & processing industries etc. are assessed according to the requirements of the relevant standards. Halal Center manages the Halal certification schemes with reference to normative documents other than officially issued standards. Such reference documents are also available for access by the public.

Any application received by Halal Center for Halal certification is carefully evaluated to determine the scope of work and corresponding resources that will be needed to conduct the whole process of certification. The products/ services included in a particular application are classified according to the categories/ sectors stated in the applicable Halal certification scheme. Clients may apply for Halal certification of products/services that fall to one or more categories. The scope of the assessment shall include all processes, sectors, products or services on the part of client that have influence on conformity of the product/ service under application to Halal requirements. For a multisite organization, each site shall be audited and certified separately.

b. Audit Program

Halal Center adopts the principles and guidelines of auditing as per standard requirements. Accepted applications for Halal certification are scheduled for audit, as applicable depending on the requirements of the Halal standard. An audit team is formed by Halal Center, according to the expertise required by the scope of Halal certification applied for by a particular client. The schedule of the audit is agreed upon by the audit team and the client taking into consideration the operations of the organization for assessment. Audit day(s) are strategically picked in consultation with the client where in the audit team will have an opportunity to assess representative number of product lines, categories or sectors covered by the scope of Halal certification. The appropriate length of time to complete and effectively conduct any audit conducted by Halal Center is determined according to determination of audit time with consideration given to the requirements of the Halal standard and regulatory authorities, criticality of the product, size of the client organization, number of sites, scope and complexity of its management system, and number of product lines and processes.

Audit plan shall be prepared by the assigned leader of the audit team prior to conduct of the audit. It shall include the audit objectives, scope, criteria against which the client shall be evaluated, language to be used, date, sites, audit team and roles, client details, and expected time and duration of each on-site audit activity. Audit plan shall be distributed to the client and all members of the audit team. Any change in the audit plan shall be made known to the client prior to audit date or during the opening meeting if the change is minor.

c. Audit Stages

Audit program of Halal Center for all Halal certification applications include a two-stage initial audit and annual surveillance audit for the three years duration of certification, at the end of which the client shall apply for a Halal recertification for its products/ services and shall undergo the full certification process. Non-renewal of the certification shall cancel all the rights of the client to use the Halal certificate and Halal Logo/Mark on their products or services, and any matters related to their promotion and advertisement.

Special audits as in the case of scope extension and short-notice audits (i.e. investigation of complaints, response to changes, follow-up on corrective actions) shall also be made known by Halal Center to the client prior to the date of audit. Reports shall be issued to clients (if required) for all audits conducted by Halal Center, as a result of analysis to be done by the audit team based on evidences gathered during the Stage 1 and Stage 2 audits, in addition to documents provided in the application. Any raised nonconformities shall be confirmed by the client and effectiveness of implemented corrective action shall be verified by the auditors. Final files were forwarded to the Halal Decision Team for final recommendation for certification.

d. Application

Halal Center shall require an authorized representative of the applicant organization to provide the necessary information to enable it to establish the following. It will be done through an application form available on request as well as on our web site.

- the desired scope of the certification;
- relevant details of the applicant organization as required by the specific certification scheme, including its name and the address(es) of its site(s), its processes and operations, human and technical resources, functions, relationships and any relevant legal obligations;
- identification of outsourced processes used by the organization that will affect conformity to requirements;
- the standards or other requirements for which the applicant organization is seeking certification;

e. Application Review

Once the application is received, the submitted documents are reviewed for completeness and correctness by the Halal certification personnel in charge. The client is informed of any missing, incomplete or improper document for correction and resubmission. The Accounts

Officer, in consultation with the certification personnel incharge and if necessary, the Manager of the certification Department, draws the quotation based on the information contained in the application.

The Halal certification personnel in charge, together with the eventually necessary technical expert (e.g., for activities not included in the pricelist) review the application information to verify that:

- Product and client information are sufficient for the certification process;
- All known differences in understanding between Halal Center and the client (including the agreement on standards or other normative documents) are resolved;

- The scope of the certification required is defined;
- The means to conduct all evaluation activities are available when needed;
- The competence and capability to perform the activities required by the application are available when needed.

Halal Center personnel in charge assess all eventual criticalities related to the competences needed to meet clients' requests in terms of product category, applicable normative documents or Halal certification scheme. They then conduct all the relevant investigations and inform clients thereof. Products may be considered of the same type when knowledge of the requirements, characteristics and technology related to one product are sufficient to understand the requirements, characteristics and technology related to another product.

In this case, Halal Center can guarantee availability of the competence and capability for all certification activities it has to undertake and keep updated records justifying the decision to undertake the Halal certification. Halal Center shall decline to undertake specific certification if it lacks any competence or capability for the certification activities it is required to undertake.

Halal Center rely on certifications previously issued to the client, or to other clients, in order to omit any activity, reference is made to the certification(s) included in its internal records. Halal Center provides the client a justification for activity omissions upon client's request.

The client, upon understanding the whole process of Halal certification including all his rights and obligations, shall sign the Certification Agreement.

f. Determination of Audit Time

Halal Center has documented procedure for determining audit time, for each client Halal Center determines the time need to plan and accomplish complete and effective audit of the client.

The audit time determined by Halal Center is recorded with proper justification according to requirements of UAE.S / GSO 2055-2.

Calculation of Minimum Initial Certification Audit Time

B.2.1 Minimum audit time for single site, T_a:

$$T_a = B + H + (PV + FTE) * CC$$

Where

B is the basis on-site audit time

H is the audit days for each additional HACCP studies and applied only for products/services in food-chain.

PV is the audit days for product variety

FTE is the audit days per number of employees

CC is the factor as multiplier for process or production complexity class

B.2.2 Minimum audit time for each additional site, T_{asv}:

$$T_{asv} = T_a * 50/100$$

* H is applied only for products/services in food-chain.

Table B1 is based on four primary complexity classes of the nature of the processes or production of an organization that fundamentally affect the Halal certification audit time, these are:

- Very High – very large number of detailed sub-processes with significant nature (typically manufacturing or processing type organizations with highly significant non-Halal risks. It covers those products or service sectors that potentially have very high risks in terms of Halal aspects, with a high variety of processes or sub-processes or with a very large number of raw materials or inputs);
- High – large number of processes with significant nature (typically manufacturing or processing type organizations with significant non-Halal risks. It covers those products and service sectors that potentially have high risks in Halal aspects, with many processes.);
- Medium – average number of processes with significant nature (typically manufacturing or service organizations. It covers products and services with moderate potential non-Halal risks.);
- Low - small number of processes with significant nature (typically organizations with few significant natures. It covers products and services with low potential non-Halal risks.);

Table B1 covers the above four complexity classes. Table B2 provides the link between the four complexity classes above and the industry sectors that would typically fall into that class.

The Halal CB should recognize that not all organizations in a specific sector will always fall in the same complexity class. The certification body should allow flexibility in its contract review procedure to ensure that the specific activities of the organization are considered in determining the complexity class. For example: even though many businesses in the chemical production sector should be classified as “high complexity”, an organization which would have only a mixing free from chemical reaction, and/or high number or risky raw materials and/or advanced processing could be classified as “medium” or even “low complexity”.

All attributes of the organization’s system, processes, and products/services should be considered, and a fair adjustment made for those factors that could justify more or less audit time for an effective audit. Additive factors may be offset by subtractive factors. In all cases where adjustments are made to the time provided in the audit time table (B1) and B2, sufficient evidence and records shall be maintained to justify the variation.

Examples of linkage between business sectors and complexity classes

If, on the contrary, the review is successful, the decision to grant certification is taken and therefore the documents for certification are prepared.
